BEAVER DAM, VA., November 11.—
The negro, Frank Johnson, who on Monday morning attempted a criminal assault upon Mrs. Butler Taylor at her home three miles south of Doswell, is still at large, and though since the crime was committed a search, which has led officers and citizens across Hanover county and far into Louisa, more than twenty miles from the siene of the a ar there seems to-night small changes of there seems to-night small chances of running the brute down within the next

Some time after nightfall the course of the clue which led Constable Hedd, Thomas Taylor and Frank Finis from the neighborhood of the Taylor home on into Louisa county, some five miles from Tyler's Station on the Chesapeake and Onio Raliroad, was abandoned, and the thred, wornout party of determined men, full of disappointment and smouldering rengeance, turned again towards their homes.

He was next heard of as crossing Davenport's Bridge near Tyler's about 6 o'clock the same evening. Here he was lost, and the clue followed to-day could carry the posse no further.

The belief in this section is that he is

There is no wild, boastful spirit of vengeance among them, but they are deter-nined, and will not be thwarted in their purpose. As to the negro's identity, since the Johnson family, near this place, has been cleared of susplicion, there is some doubt if the name, Frank Johnson, as given Monday night to the Taylor family by Mr. Phillips, a contractor of the Ches-apeake and Ohio Railroad, for whom the well, is correct.

Manchester Bureau, Richmond Times, No. 1102 Hull Street.

In a session lasting over three hours last night, the City Assembly wrestled with the special appropriation for improv-ing Eighteenth Street, finally passing the resolution, asking for $214 for the work. The body passed the ordinance of Alderman Rudd, providing for a dog pound, and approved the ordinance governing the division of the cemetery and the sale of the sections. The Assembly was in ses-sion for a long time, the chief discussion arising over the special appropriation for the improvement of Eighteenth Street. Tais resolution was offered in the Street Sommittee some time ago by Mr. R. L. Patram. It has from time to time been deferred until last night, when it came up with full force, and notwithstanding the opposition met with it, was carried, and the citizens of the street are happy. NEW ORLEANS, LA., November 11 .-The twenty-eighth annual convention of the American Bankers' Association assembled to-day, beginning a three-days' session. This is the largest meeting of the association ever held and the largest aggregation of financiers ever gathered at one time in the history of the country. Up to a late hour to-night there had been 1,500 delegates registered and nearly 500 as a matter of fact, such registration amounted to nothing, another being necessary before a vote could be recorded. For each one of these a bill for ten cents was rendered. Hence the action in calling for the opinion of Mr. Pollard.

Following is an itemized account of the cost of the registration under the new Constitution:

Alderman Concurred in Council Reson lution Authorizing a Loan to City of Fifty Thousand Dollars-Much Routine Disposed Of.

For over three hours the Board of Al-dermen last night considered matters of practically no importance, and during this space the meeting was one of the slow est and most uninteresting in the his-tory of the body. passed at the last session of the Common Council by an overwhelming vote, providing for the establishment of eight subtreasury stations for the payment of gas and water bills was reached, that the assembly took its usual form and livened up, resulting in the adoption of such legislation as will no doubt result in the ultimae defeat, of the project.

The ordinance, which was referred to the Finance Committee, provides for the establishment of eight stations in different sections of the city where for four days each month citizens may settle their gas and water accounts for the month previous. The proposed plan is to have these places in the stores of merchants of various calling, each agent to give bond in the sum of $500, and to receive no pay for his duties, which, it is admitted, would be laborious. The compensation comes from the number of people attracted. The city would pay the guarantee company for issuing the necessary security.

When the matter came up under business from the lower branch, Mr. Otway Allen was the first to offer objection. He moved that the measure be tabled, as he regarder hasty legislation unwise. Mr. Mann moved to amend slightly, and President Turpin called Mr. Minor to the chair that he might offer his objection from the floor.

Messrs. Allen, Turpin and Gordon waged a bitter battle against concurring with the action of the Common Council in regard to the ordinance, while Messrs!

The vote was close, several members objecting to having the Council member air his opinion and argument, but the patron of the bill was heard from. After he concluded his remarks it was moved as a substitute for the whole that the ordinance be referred to the Finance Committee for consideration, and this action was taken. It will probably result in the defeat of the scheme altogether, although there is a slight chance that the ordinance will be so amended as to establish one substation each in the extreme eastern and western ends of the city. action of the Common Council in

When the pet proposition of Mr. Crenshaw, which was passed by the Common Council, creating eight sub-stations for the payment of gas and water bills came up, much opposition developed, Mr. Mann offering an amendment and Mr. Allen moving to table the measure. President Turpin stated from the chair that ne thought the idea ridiculous. He said while the ordinance stipulated that none of the agents were to receive pay, it would be only a matter of time before the city would have eight new poid officers. Mr. Seay took the same view.

Mr. Washer said he was heartily in favor of the idea, and moved that the patron of the measure, Mr. Crenshaw, a member of the lower branch, be heard from. The vote on hearing from him was close, but the chair decided that a majority favored allowing him to talk.

Mr. Crenshaw expanined the advantages of the scheme, and argued the advantages at length.

MANY INDICTMENTS IN CHESTERFIELD

White.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.) CHESTERFIELD, VA., Nov. 11.-The special grand jury yesterday, found true bills in two cases against colored men. against whom a charge of abduction had been brought, the jury found that there was not sufficient grounds for indictment.

In the case of James Goode, against whom there was the double charge of breaking into the houses of both J. L. Perkinson and Mr. Rowlett, and stealing Perkinson and Mr. Rowied, and sealing from each, it was found that the prison-er was ready to plead guilty to the charges preferred, and the case was quickly disposed of this afternoon soon after the man was indicted. Commonwealth's Attorney Wells only examined two witnesses for the Commonweath, and in a brief speech told of the necessity for dealing sternly with those lawless peo-ple who made it unsafe for honest people to leave their homes and possession at any time unguarded, and recommended to the jury that the prisoner be given such a term of imprisonment in the penitentiary as would be a dreadful warning to all who were not disposed to be lawabiding. The jury was in consultation in its room only a short while before it was ready to submit its decision, and the hard punishment given to Goode, who seems to be a boy yet in his teens, was ten years in the State penitentiary, five for each offence.

Three wills were submitted to probate namely James Gargett's, Mary E. Robertson's and Abel N. Haskins.

The will of James Gargett, who died at Chester. Va., several months since provides that all the property of the testator pass to his wife, Mrs. Odella W. Garbert of the control gett, to be at her disposal during her life, and that whatever may remain at

GENERAL CARR'S DIAMONDS FOUND

Dug Up in His Stable-Yard After Two Years—A Tin Box Uncovered.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.) DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 11.-The two items of general interest here and about which the town is agog are the finding of General J. S. Carr's jewelry, stolen two years ago, and the attachment of the W. L. Main Show by the Seaboard Air Line Railroad. Frank O'Neil, a white driver for E. C. Hackney, while cleaning up the stable yard, with his pitchfork unearthed a tin box, in which there were three watches and diamonds of $1,500 value—all easily and diamonds of $1,500 value—all easily identified as General Carr's property. A year ago this same Mr. O'Neil found a box of jewelry near the same spot, and his wife has been wearing them since, innocent of their value.

An attachment was issued yesterday morning on the W. L. Main Show for $700 and served by Sheriff F. D. Markham. The paper was taken out by the Sachary.

The paper was taken out by the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, which had paid as a gett, to be at life, and that whatever may the received in Use.
